

TRANSPORTATION UPDATES

STAY CONNECTED

Dear Families: We miss you and hope you are staying healthy and hopeful during these uncertain times.

Throughout the summer, STEO has been working continuously with the Ministry of Education, our local school boards, our school bus operators and local public health to develop a safe plan for transported students for the upcoming school year.

In a typical year, STEO would be directing you to visit our BUS STOP FINDER tool beginning next week to access your child's pick-up and drop-off information. As you know, this year has been anything but typical. As final routing has been delayed due to pandemic related uncertainties, we are working very hard to make this tool available to families by August 24, 2020.

As STEO awaits final confirmation on some key details relating to transportation, we are also working diligently to finalize the details of our transportation plan, which will speak in depth to what to expect on the school vehicle. We know that uncertainty is tough and we will share the plan along just as soon we can.

Rest assured, the plan is being developed with great care and will incorporate the recommendations of the Ministry of Education, Transport Canada and our amazing local health authorities, with the health and well-being of students, bus drivers and the community as its driving factors.
